

Group Contract:

The way you write your group contract and the specifics of that contract is up to you. All group members must negotiate reasonable terms for the contract and sign the contract, indicating agreement. The group contract should take at least the following into consideration:

- What grade are you aiming for?
We intend on scoring an A- to A+
- What will the group's primary method of communication be? (Text, email, phone calls, WhatsApp, etc.) DO NOT use Snapchat as those messages are not permanent.
Our group, Group 2, uses a WhatsApp group chat as a method of communication.
- How quickly can group members respond to communication? Take into mind communication type, and other obligations you might have outside of this project such as work, or family obligations. Also consider if you'd like communication time to remain the same over the weekends vs. weekdays.
One hour on weekdays. Weekends would be hard to respond quickly. But we put in sufficient effort to respond and communicate via the group chat.
- What means will the group use primarily to work collaboratively outside of class? Will the group meet face-to-face? Will the group use technology such as GoogleMeet or Skype to simulate face-to-face meetings? Will the group use Google Docs or Cloud-based Microsoft Word to edit documents collaboratively? Will the editing process be synchronous or asynchronous
- The group will meet via Zoom or Whatsapp calls if necessary. In addition platforms such as Google Docs and Microsoft Word will be utilized to edit our documents in a collaborative and interactive manner. The editing process will be done asynchronously.
